

BLOEMSEC

Delia Bukes, the Managing Director of Sales at Bloemsec, has worked hard to come out at the top in a male-dominated industry. She manages and oversees the sales operations in Bloemsec and leads an effective selling strategy for the company.

"I design and plan to meet our company's target, developing relationships with customers and evaluating costs for selling products and services." With Delia's innate determination, she has managed to lead effectively whilst maintaining a positive working environment. She believes that it is imperative as a leader to develop and encourage a mentality of abundance. "An optimistic attitude combined with positive thinking is the practice of focusing on the good in any given situation."
